TAFT IN CHICAGO

RECIPROCITY SPEECH DELIVERED LAST NIGHT.

Says Farmers Are Being "Buncoed" by Special Interests, From Which Comes Most of Opposition to Present Canadian Treaty.

Chicago, June 3.—President Taft, in a speech before the Western Economic society here to night declared that the principal opposition to the Canadian reciprocity agreement comes not from the farmer, but from the lumber "trust" and from American manufacturers of print paper. The president outlined some of the methods employed by the opponents of reciprocity and practically told the farmers that they were being "buncoed" by special interests. He said that the fate of the agreement rested not so much with the United States senate as with the people of the country.

In spite of the forces that are arrayed against it, the president expressed the belief that the agreement would become a law. "The bill," he said, "will pass, if it passes at all, because of the force of public opinion in its favor."

"I venture to think that there is much less real opposition to reciprocity than has been represented in Washington. I have examined the arguments and compiled them with actual statistics."

"Under reciprocity with Cuba, which reduced the duties on each side 20 per cent, our trade with that country has doubled. Under complete reciprocity with Porto Rico our trade with that country has increased nearly fifteen times; under reciprocal relations with the Philippine Islands our mutual trade has nearly doubled in less than a year. In each case there was bitter opposition and wild prophecies of disastrous results."

"From what source does the opposition to Canadian reciprocity proceed? It comes first from those who own and control the lumber supply of the United States; secondly, from manufacturers of print paper, of whom the largest own much of the spruce wood supply of the United States from which print paper is made. And, third, from those who claim to represent the farmers of the country."

"The control of lumber in the United States is in comparatively few hands, so friendly to each other that the possibility of a monopoly is neither remote nor improbable, according to the bureau of corporations, unless we bring to the markets of the United States the relatively inexhaustible supply to be found in Canada."

"As to print paper. The tariff board reports that the average cost of production in all the United States is about $5 more a ton than the cost of production in Canada and that this $5 is about the difference between the cost of pulp wood in the United States and the cost of pulp wood in Canada."

"It is of the highest importance to the consumers and to the manufacturers of print paper, to secure a letting down of the bars in Canada for the exportation of pulp wood."

"The agreement looks far into the future to create a condition of absolutely free trade in paper and its materials, a condition that is the best thing for the industry as it certainly is for the consumers."

"The third class of opponents to the bill are those who claim vociferously to represent the whole farming industry of the United States. This of course is a much more formidable opposition than the special interests to which I have referred, and it is but natural that these special interests should be found co-operating with those who claim to represent the farming interest."

"The employment of a New York City firm, skilled in sending circulars, is not the subject of proper criticism, providing the statements made in the circulars are reasonable and well founded. But it is significant that this same New York firm is looking for financial assistance in the campaign they are carrying on against reciprocity, not only to the grange, but also to gentlemen interested in lumber, in the manufacture of print paper and in other manufacturers."

"How is the farmer to be affected by Canadian reciprocity and free trade in agricultural products? As far as the farmer is concerned, the products are limited to wheat, rye, barley, oats, potatoes, live cattle, horses and dairy products. She does not raise more than one-sixth of one per cent of the corn crop of the United States. She raises but few vegetables; she raises but few hogs because she has not the corn to feed them with; she cannot fatten cattle as they are fattened in the United States."

"Some Figures on Exports. The United States sends into Canada a great many more horses than she imports from the Canadians. She sends to Canada a much larger amount of potatoes than she receives from her. The United States exports to Canada about fifteen times as much meat and dairy products as Canada sends to the United States."

"The only real importation of agricultural products that we may expect from Canada of any considerable amount will consist of wheat, barley, rye and oats. The world price of these four cereals is fixed abroad, where the surplus from the producing countries is disposed of. Canadian wheat nets perhaps ten cents less a bushel to the producer than wheat grown in the Dakotas or in Minnesota, due to greater cost of exporting. "It now the duty is to be taken off Canadian wheat Minneapolis and other places can make it into flour because the capacity of the United States mills is 33 per cent greater than is needed to mill the wheat of this country. Canadian wheat can be imported and ground into flour without materially reducing the demand for or price of United States wheat and the surplus will be sent abroad as flour."

Benefits for Cattle Raisers. "A material benefit to the stock and cattle raisers and the dairy farmers will be the supply of by-products of bran and shorts from the flour mills. These by-products are now so scarce and high that many farmers are unable to procure them. The agreement will not, in my judgment, reduce the price of wheat or other farming products for our people. It will, and ought to prevent an exorbitant increase in the prices of farm products which for the last three or four years have been highly profitable to all engaged in agricultural."

"I have been attacked as occupying an inconsistent position. It is asked is it possible to reduce the cost of living on the one hand and maintain the present prices of farm products on the other, I do think that reciprocity will enlarge the reservoir of farm products for our people and thus prevent undue enhancement of prices beyond the present standard."

Canada Buys More Hens. "The argument is made that to give free trade to the Canadian farmer in farm products is to give him an advantage over our own farmers, who, living behind a high tariff wall, have to pay a great deal more for the cost of living than do Canadian farmers. With respect to this argument all I have to say is that it is not true. Canada buys two and one half times as much from the United States as she does from England."

Will Not Lower Land Prices. "It is said the farm land in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and other states is much more valuable than the land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. That to give Canadian farmers free entry will lower farm lands in value in this country. Nothing could be further from the fact. The Canadian lands are farther removed from the Minneapolis and Chicago markets than the lands of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois and proximity to market is a most important element in the value of farm land. Then the natural change in farming in this country is from the raising of grain and other cereals for export to the raising of grain for farm consumption and development of the secondary products in the form of cattle and hogs. The live cattle are bought and fattened. The hogs are raised and fed. It is farming of this kind that explains the high value of farm lands in Illinois and Iowa and other states. In 1900 the farm land value in North Dakota was $11.15 an acre, in South Dakota, $9.92, in Kansas $12.17, in Nebraska $16.27. At the same time the value of farm land in Iowa was $26.35, in Illinois $16.17, in Indiana $31.61, in Michigan $24.12, in Wisconsin $26.71 and in Minnesota $21.31."

"If the argument as to the disastrous effect of admitting the crops of the Canadian northwest to our markets upon the values of our farm land is correct then the opening of land in Kansas, Nebraska and the two Dakotas in the last two decades should have had a similar effect upon land of older states."

Cites New States as Examples. "Now what was the fact? The land in the older states became more devoted to corn and cattle and hogs, while the wheat and other cereals were left to the new lands. The value of the land in the older farming states was in most cases more than doubled. In 1910 the average farm value by the acre in Illinois is $95, in Iowa $83, in Indiana $62, in Michigan $31, in Wisconsin $43 and in Minnesota $37. The average in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta was $28.94, $21.54 and $20.46 respectively in 1909."

"These figures show incontestably that the fear of a reduction in farm land values of this country by letting in Canada's products is wholly unfounded."

Turning to the increase of trade between the countries Mr. Taft said:

Means Great Market. "If Canada continues to grow, what may we expect to sell her if we introduce as nearly as we can free trade and she increases her population from seven million to thirty million? Shall we not be flying in the face of providence to maintain a wall between us and such a profitable market?"

"I am confident it will be seen on both sides to be a great statesman-like measure, looking to the beneficial interests of both parties to the contract. This is why I so urgently press its adoption."

In conclusion President Taft said the prospects are the measure will be reported out next week, probably without recommendation. He believed amendments would be offered. The objection he had to the farmers free list as an amendment was that to unite reciprocity and the farmers free list was to defeat both bills.

OVATIONS FOR MADERO

Victorious Rebel Chief Hailed on Every Side by Citizens—Troops to Guard Mexico City Upon Leader's Arrival.

Monclova, Mexico, June 3.—Francisco I. Madero, Jr., found ovations awaiting him at every stop in Mexico today. On his way to the capital the victorious rebel chief reached Monclova, 128 miles south of the border at 7 o'clock to night and an hour later his special train resumed the journey south.

Sabinas, 73 miles south of Piedras Negras, where the border was crossed this morning, was the first stopping place. Practically the entire populace consisting principally of mine workers was at the railroad station to greet the man they term "liberator."

Madero made a short address from the rear platform of his car. At Barronera, fifteen miles south of Sabinas, a like demonstration was tendered. Monclova came next. Here he was met by a delegation of event revolutionary supporters and before leaving he spoke briefly to several thousand who surrounded the train.

Troops to Protect Madero. Mexico City, June 3.—Under command of M. Asunzolo, some 8,000 men of the army of liberation are expected to arrive at the capital tomorrow. The determination to bring them to the city was reached this afternoon after a conference held by Dominguez, the military head of the revolutionary forces in the south, and President De La Barra. Some time afterward I was informed by Mr. Rosenthal that a voucher of the department showed that he had received $2,450, whereas he had been paid only $850. LORIMER TO TESTIFY

SENATOR TELEGRAPHS REQUEST TO BE HEARD BY NEW COMMITTEE.

Action Sets at Rest Stories About Resignation—Investigation to Be Conducted Largely in Washington—Helm Committee Evidence Received.

Washington, June 3.—Senator William Lorimer, whose election to the senate is to be re-investigated, today requested that he be permitted to appear before the new investigating committee to testify in his own behalf. The request was telegraphed to the senate committee on privileges and elections by Mr. Lorimer who is in Chicago. The committee, it was said, would be glad to hear him.

Mr. Lorimer's telegram was a follow-up. "At the former investigation nothing was charged against me personally. Therefore there was nothing for me to deny as a witness. It is my earnest desire to be permitted to testify before your committee so that I can refute any charges that may be made or any suspicion that any one may have as to the validity of my election."

The telegram had the effect of quieting persistent rumors that the Illinois senator would resign. Senator Dillingham, chairman of the committee, said that undoubtedly Mr. Lorimer would be given the fullest opportunity to testify.

The telegram reached the committee headquarters immediately after the adjournment of a meeting at which the Lorimer inquiry had been under consideration. No action was taken today, but another meeting was ordered for Monday when the question will be taken up again.

The entire discussion today centered about a motion by Senator Kenyon that the committee proceed as a whole with the work. There were reminders of the tactic agreement of the selection of a special committee to do the work and indications pointed to the failure of the Kenyon motion.

The members of the committee generally expressed themselves as desirous of having the investigation conducted in Washington to as great an extent as possible.

During the meeting Senator Dillingham expressed a desire to be relieved from service on the proposed sub-committee and it is probable that Senator Sutherland will be given the place.

A complete copy of the testimony taken by the Helm committee of the Illinois state senate in its investigation of the Lorimer case reached Washington late today. The package was addressed to the secretary of the United States senate and will be turned over to the committee on privileges and elections authorized to conduct the new inquiry.

MAKES CONFESSION

JOHN DELANEY AT MUSKOGEE THROWS LIGHT ON DYNAMITE PLOTS.

Claims He Was Employed by McNamara to Locate Iron Structures Put up by Non-union Men—Tells Story to Newspaper Men.

Muskogee, Okla., June 3.—John Delaney, a structural iron worker, it is said, today confessed that he had been employed by John J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Iron Workers of America to travel throughout the country carefully inspecting all structures being erected by non-union labor, securing carefully made drawings of such structures and marking the spot with a cross where dynamite could be most easily placed and would be most effective.

The confession was made to Harry Egan, a representative of the Muskogee Phoenix, in the presence of witnesses. Delaney has some of the drawings bearing the cross marks in his possession together with letters of instruction addressed to him and purporting to be signed by McNamara.

A representative of William J. Burns was here today and immediately left for the east. Delaney said he was introduced to McNamara at Indianapolis by G. E. Skidmore of Pittsburg. Delaney's confession in part follows:

"The first building I located for Mr. McNamara was in Cincinnati, an office building on Vine street, which was being erected by non-union men. I sent Mr. McNamara a diagram of this building, showing him the point where the dynamite could be placed for the destruction of this building. This building was blown up by members of the Structural Iron Workers' union in January of the year 1907. The next building I located was the viaduct in Chicago that was blown up in February of the year 1907. I went from there to St. Louis and located a building on St. Charles street which was blown up at some time later by the Structural Iron Workers' union. I went from there to Denver."

"While at Denver I received a letter from McNamara to go to Salt Lake City, and I went, arriving there the 15th day of November, 1909. I got two letters from McNamara, instructing me to find the location of the Utah hotel. This building was blown up on the 29th day of December at 3 a. m."

"I was arrested and tried in connection with this case and given six months in the county jail and a fine of $500. I paid them, $65 and the balance was remitted, and served the sentence. After leaving the jail I went to Houston, Texas, and there wrote to McNamara, demanding my fee for the part that I had taken in these affairs. He wrote back to me refusing to give me any aid whatever and also advised the local secretary to take up my union card. My union card was No. 39,783; since then I have nothing whatever to do with the union or McNamara and give this statement cheerfully of my own accord that justice may be done to the offending parties."

Delaney came to Muskogee two months ago. He began work as a cook driver but a week later went to work as a "dynamiter" or "nitroglycerine shooter" in the oil fields here. He is still working there.

MATRIMONIAL RECORD

Souza-McKinney.

Saturday afternoon the office of Magistrate Amos Henderson was the scene of a quiet wedding, the parties to the compact being George Souza of Myrtle street and who is an employee of the Illinois Steel Bridge company, and Miss Jewell McKinney of Doolin avenue. RAMBLER BOARD ELECTION.

At a meeting of the College Rambler board held Saturday John Widenham was elected business manager to succeed A. L. Kingsley, who has just closed a most successful year in that capacity. The board also decided to set aside a sum of $50 or more from its general fund to be used in helping to defray the expenses of publishing a college song book. It is the purpose of the board, if possible, to finance the venture and contribute the books to the college. Miss Stella Cole, faculty advisor for the Rambler, was made chairman of a committee to take the matter in charge and she is to appoint others from the student body to serve with her. An effort will now be made to get together all the old college songs and anyone having copies of the same would be of great assistance if they would notify Miss Cole.

OPINION FAVORABLE

City Attorney Haingrove Believes Ordinance Prohibiting Shipping in of Liquors Could Be Enforced.

J. H. Danskin recently appeared before the city commission and urged the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the shipping of intoxicating liquors into the city. The commission asked City Attorney Haingrove for an opinion as to the possibility of enforcing such an ordinance. Mr. Haingrove's opinion is favorable to the ordinance in that he believes it could be enforced so far as within the state shipments are concerned. The letter to the commission follows:

Jacksonville, Ill., June 3, 1911.
Hon. Geo. W. Davis, Mayor, Jacksonville, Ill.

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of yours of May 31st asking for opinion as to whether or not the following ordinance could be enforced if it be passed, and saying it was the sense of the commissioners that it would not be wise to put on the records of the city a law that could not be enforced. The ordinance submitted reads as follows:

Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Jacksonville:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any express company, railroad company, or other common carrier, to bring into, or to deliver to any person within the city of Jacksonville, any intoxicating liquors.

Section 2. Any express company, railroad company, or other common carrier, violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall forfeit and pay to the city of Jacksonville, as a penalty, the sum of not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars, for each and every such violation.

In the time at my disposal I have examined this ordinance and the law relative thereto in so far as I was able.

The constitution of the United States and the laws made in pursuance thereof are the supreme laws of the land. It is declared by the supreme court of the United States that "for the purpose of protecting the people against the evils of intemperance it (the state) has the right to prohibit the movement within its limits of intoxicating liquors." It (the state) may also prohibit all domestic commerce therein between its inhabitants whether the articles are introduced from other states or foreign countries; it may punish those who sell in violation of the rule and it may adopt any measure ending even indirectly or remotely to make the policy effective till it passes the line of power delegated to congress under the constitution. It cannot without the consent of congress expressed or implied regulate commerce between its people and those of other states of the union in order to effect its end, however desirable such regulations might be.

Bowman vs. Chicago & N. W. R. 125th U. S. Supreme Court 465.

Unquestionably a state has the right, as a police power, to control the commerce of its citizens and of common carriers, locally, within its limits. In commerce of intoxicating liquors and the power to regulate the liquor traffic and pronounce conditions on which it shall or shall not be carried, and such regulations or prohibitions are not in violation of the 14th amendment of the United States constitution. The state having this right, the question now arises if the state of Illinois has delegated that right to a municipal corporation. I find that under article 50, chapter 24, the amended statute, section 63 that city council in cities and president and board of trustees in villages have the following powers: "Section 63. To license, regulate, and prohibit the selling or giving away of intoxicating malt, vinous, mixed or fermented liquor."

Paragraph 59. "To prevent intoxication and all disorderly conduct."

Paragraph 66. "To regulate the police of the cities or village and pass and enforce all necessary police ordinances."

Paragraph 96. "To pass all ordinances and rules and make all regulation proper, or necessary to carry into effect the powers granted to cities or villages with such fines or penalties as the city council or board of trustees shall deem proper; provided, no fine or penalty shall exceed $200 or no imprisonment shall exceed six months for one offense."

The powers to regulate or prohibit the sale of liquors after it has been brought into the state does not carry with it the right and power to prevent its introduction by transportation from another state. I consider the enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance a drastic provision to make more effective the provisions and enforcements of the present liquor laws of the city of Jacksonville, and are not enforceable as to interstate commerce for to shipments without the state of Illinois into Jacksonville. I cannot find that the question has ever been passed on as to shipments within the state and so I cannot say positively that this ordinance as to domestic commerce or as to shipments within the state, is enforceable or not enforceable. I can only say this, that it looks to me from my examination of the law bearing on the question that it is more than probable that this ordinance is enforceable as against common carriers from shipments made entirely within the state, and if the commissioners of the city of Jacksonville in their wisdom pass this ordinance I will use any best endeavors to enforce the same and will make a test case if necessary on the question involved, and if I should fail, there will be no expense to the city and no work for anyone but me, for I am the one that would have the burden to bear. I do not consider the ordinance as wild, in a legal sense, and I believe there is more than a passing reason for belief that its provisions can be enforced as to domestic shipments.

Respectfully submitted,
William N. Haingrove,
City Attorney.

FROM DR. SHERZER.

Mr. Ensley Moore returned Saturday from a little trip down toward Cincinnati, during which he had the pleasure of making a call on Dr. Jane Scherzer, president of Oxford college, at Oxford, Ohio.

This college for young women is a good deal such a building in style and surroundings as our Academy, and of course is a high grade institution as to its curriculum. It has attractive grounds, and modern rooms and equipment, and the attendance is large under the management. Dr. Scherzer asked regarding her friends in this city, and was much interested in affairs here.

She also had good words to say for the Messrs. Swarthout. Dr. Harker has secured for the coming year.

LARGE CROWD IN CITY.

Although yesterday was the hottest day of the year thus far, a good crowd was in the city and all the merchants reported a good trade. The soda fountains and ice cream parlors were popular places and electric fans and hand fans were brought into service everywhere. Many of the visitors in the city, finding a respite did not leave until late in the evening to escape the heat. The old adage "eat little and drink plenty of cold water" is a good one for these hot days.

Wedding Rings

Our wedding rings are one of the distinguishing marks of this store, recognized for their quality, form and finish.

And so we find them difficult to describe, but as in men of genius, poets, philosophers, orators and musicians; there's a special quality, secret and indefinable, that lives on and is endless.

Of course, if this occurs a subtle argument, we'll be glad to show you.

WILLIAM A. SCOTT.

William A. Scott, director of the course in commerce and professor of political economy in the University of Wisconsin, expressing his conclusions that Canadian reciprocity would be of far reaching benefit to America, said:

"My brief and imperfect survey of the elements of the problem before us (Canadian reciprocity) seems to justify the conclusion that consumers will be benefited by reciprocity with Canada along the lines proposed, and that the magnitude of that benefit will be far greater than surface facts and study of present conditions indicate.

"This is not a question to be settled on the basis of statistics or of exact data of any kind. It calls for a consideration of broad principles; it belongs within the realm of statesmanship, rather than in political logrolling or of careful balancing of petty interests.

"Since both Canada and the United States are exporters of wheat and since its value is determined by a worldwide market, it is possible, and indeed, quite probable that the removal of the duty would not lower its price in our markets, except as certain kinds were affected by its peculiar conditions. However, it might not follow that consumers in this country would not benefit from it. The byproducts of wheat, such as bran, middlings, etc., are not sold on a world-wide basis, and with a greater amount of wheat to draw from, the great and economically managed mills would be able to work a reduction through greater consumption and added profits from by-products.

PROF. E. V. ROBINSON.

Professor E. V. Robinson, of the University of Minnesota, said in part:

"The free admission of Canadian wheat could not do either of striking and opposed things, which some of the advocates and some of the opponents of reciprocity predict. It could not benefit the consumer, since a considerable and prolonged fall in the price of wheat is necessary to reduce the price of flour; nor could it damage the producer of wheat, since such local corners are of necessity engineered after the grain has largely left the farmers' hands, so that the amount available can be calculated with considerable accuracy. The chief effect of reciprocity in wheat, so far as concerns price, would, therefore, be to maintain greater stability and diminish the violence of local speculative fluctuations. Such stability would certainly be of advantage to all concerned, except possibly to wheat speculators."

PROF. F. W. TAUSSIG.

Professor F. W. Taussig, of Harvard university, spoke in favor of Canadian reciprocity. The speaker referred to the proposed agreement as affecting New England particularly. He said in part:

"The reciprocity arrangement now pending involves no far-reaching political and social question, no problems as to the way in which the industrial development of two different regions shall be shaped. It is like the trade between adjoining farms, not like the trade between city and farm. If restrictions, though a possible source of annoyance and inconvenience, will cause no serious changes. Its freedom will promote good feeling and mutual accommodation, and will not seriously affect the course of economic development in either country. The notion that the farmers of the United States or of New England are going to be ruined, or seriously affected, is nothing less than preposterous. Even on the very border itself, I doubt whether any perceptible number of farmers will be disturbed in the slightest, or will have to readjust their ways. For the farmers of the country, as a whole, the effect will be as a ripple on a millpond."

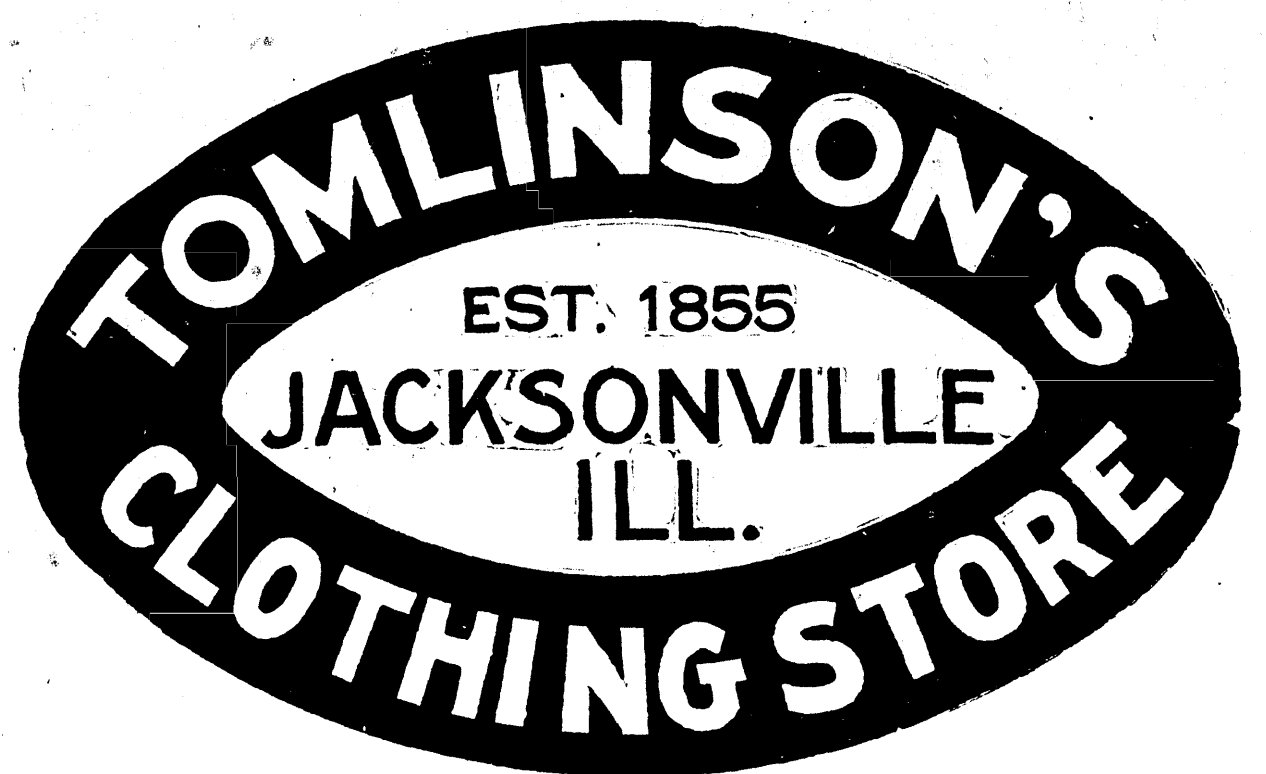

EX-GOVERNOR HOARD.

In a statement sent to the Western Economic society and read at the session, at which reciprocity was discussed, Former Governor Hoard of Wisconsin declared that most of the opposition against reciprocity with Canada was based on politics and that reciprocity would help the farmers. He said in part:

"Each of all this confusing cry of clamoring politicians of high protectionists on one hand, and the insurgents looking for political advantage to their group on the other, lies the great basal recollection with me that always in the history of this country has the farmer prospered best when the manufacturer prospered best; when the great army of workmen were employed and their families consuming largely of the farmer's food. Never once have I seen agriculture prosper when labor was idle. For that reason I have faith that reciprocity with Canada will stimulate a demand for the products of labor this side of the line, and, as day follows night, will it help the farmers.

"The farmers of the land must carry a steady hand. They must hark back to the lessons of the past. They must see their true position in relation to all the other industries of the country. They must see that the primary thing for them to do is to promote the purchasing power of the consumer and not allow themselves to be hoodwinked into opposition to that great basic proposition."

DEATH RECORD

Dowd.
Mrs. Charles Dowd, a well known resident of this city, passed away Saturday morning at 3:30 o'clock, at the family residence, 800 West North street, aged 75 years.

Mrs. Dowd has been in poor health for the past two years, and for the past six months had been confined to her bed. She had suffered a great deal and through all displayed wonderful courage, never losing her friends to know of her afflictions. She was a woman of strong character, an affectionate wife and loving mother and her neighbors found in her a disposition that was always willing to help in time of need. She was a faithful member of the Church of Our Savior and always attended when health permitted. Her presence in the community will be greatly missed.

Her maiden name was Mary Kingsley and she was born in County Wexford, Ireland. She came to this country with her brothers and other relatives in 1849; they landed at New Orleans and came up to St. Louis by boat. It was in St. Louis that she met Charles Dowd and they were married January 18, 1852. Three years later they moved to Jacksonville, which has been their home since.

They were the parents of eleven children, the following, together with the father, surviving: Mrs. M. L. Edson, Mrs. John Noonan, Miss Bitilda Dowd, all of Jacksonville; Mrs. M. E. Green of Kansas City; Sister Mary Ignatia and Sister Agnes of the Sacred Heart Convent, Springfield. The children dead are: Charles, Ignatious, Henry, Stacia and Cecelia. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Dillon Troy of Jacksonville and two brothers, Arthur Kingsley of Wadon and Matthew Kingsley of Ireland.

The funeral services will be conducted Monday at 9 a. m. from the Church of Our Savior and burial will be made in Calvary cemetery.

The deceased was a son of John C. and Martha Crabtree and was born on the Crabtree homestead, three and a half miles northeast of Franklin, 55 years ago. After arriving at man's estate he taught school in the Prentice neighborhood. While so engaged he formed the acquaintance of Miss Beulah Smith, who afterwards became his wife. For two years he was a clerk in Alcott's drug store in Jacksonville and while so engaged read medicine, afterwards attending a medical college, from which he graduated a physician. He opened an office for the practice of his profession in Berdan, Greene county. Afterwards seeking a larger field he went to Wichita, Kan., where he opened a sanitarium. Later on he went to Collinsville, Okla., where he has since made his home. Dr. Crabtree is survived by one daughter, Ruth, now in her twelfth year, also by his brothers, James W. Crabtree of Lawton, Okla., W. I. Crabtree of Murrayville, and Newton O. Crabtree of Missouri.

MUST STAND TRIAL

Man Wanted in St. Louis is Located Through Activity of Morgan County Sheriff and Deputies.

C. C. Trainor, who has been the mechanical engineer for a Chicago firm which had the contract for installing the machinery in a pumping station in the Meredosia Lake Drainage and Levee district, north of Meredosia, from reports, was a much sought man by the court authorities in St. Louis. Nevertheless he has been in evidence and apparently not at all concerned in keeping out of the limelight, as he has frequently visited in Jacksonville on business connected with the plant at which he was engaged. It is reported that Mr. Trainor obtained a divorce from his wife, or thought it had been granted, and he was married again. His supposed divorced wife, it is reported, took an appeal from the decision of the court and Mr. Trainor gave a bond for his appearance in St. Louis when the case was called for rehearing. Failing to be there his bondsmen offered a reward for his return to that city. Notices of the offer of a reward were mailed to the sheriffs of various counties and one falling into the hands of Deputy Frank Todd, who was until a few months since a resident of Meredosia, and he called to mind that he had heard the name in Meredosia and went there. He learned that Mr. Trainor had completed his work and had probably gone to report to his employers in Chicago. Sheriff Rogers went to that city and had no difficulty in locating the wanted man. He notified the Missouri authorities in locating the wanted Chicago and Mr. Trainor was delivered to him and went back to St. Louis.

This is the story that is in circulation, whether it is as related will be revealed at the hearing in the court in St. Louis.

Mrs. Thomas Montgomery, of Hersman, Ill., was in the city Saturday to attend the alumnae reunion at Academy hall, and while here was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Eugene D. Pyatt.

ALUMNAE MEETING

Members of the Atheneum, Academy and Illinois Conservatory Hold Annual Gathering — Luncheon Served on the Lawn.

The annual meeting of the members of the Academy, Atheneum and Illinois Conservatory Alumnae was held Saturday at the Academy building. There was a good attendance and luncheon was served on the Academy lawn at 12:30, consisting of an excellent menu. The idea of having the luncheon on the lawn met with the approval of all, as the surroundings were most beautiful and the day very warm.

The program followed the luncheon and took place in recital hall. On account of the illness of the president, Mrs. E. P. Kirby, Mrs. William Barr Brown acted in that capacity, with Mrs. James O. Vosseler as secretary. Reports were heard from the various officers. Mrs. Carriel, who was chairman of the invitation committee, spoke of the pleasure it afforded in having so many of the former members of the different organizations present. She spoke particularly of the obligation each one should feel in paying their dues and attending the reunion each year. She said that she was very much encouraged to receive through the mail one dollar each from ten members as dues, who were not able to attend the meeting.

The greetings from the Illinois Woman's college were brought by Mrs. Howard Carriel of Marquette, Mich. She told a bit of history of the Woman's college, at the time she was a student there and of the recent meeting she had attended in Springfield, composed of the alumnae of the college.

She thought the idea a good one for graduates living in the same town to hold a reunion by themselves. She was happy in the thought that both institutions were working for the same purpose, the higher education and that there was no reason why a friendly spirit should not prevail between the two schools.

Mrs. T. P. Carter made the response in behalf of the Academy and college, saying that the same friendly greeting which was brought from Mrs. C. was reciprocated and that she hoped the rivalry between the schools would be most beneficial.

The acting president then proposed a chautauqua salute to President Rammelkamp for his splendid victory in raising the endowment fund and for the new student from his household for Illinois college in the year 1907. President Rammelkamp said that he certainly hoped that the young man would grow up and become a student of the college and his daughter also. He thanked the members of the various organizations represented for the helpfulness in making the campaign for the endowment fund a success.

The treasurer's report was given by Miss Mabel Goltra and this was followed by a selection from the string quartet composed of Misses Carrie Dunlap, Alma Forsythe, Hazel Brown and Nathalia Jensen, with Mr. Kritch at the piano. They gave a "Concertante" from Maurer in a very pleasing manner.

The audience was next favored with several vocal numbers by Mrs. Helen Brown Read. She was in splendid voice and everyone was greatly delighted with her selection, given in such a finished manner. The first two numbers, "An Irish Lullaby" and "The Waterfall," were written by Miss Carrie Dunlap and were indeed creditable productions.

The words to the first song were written by Miss Edith Adams of this city, that of the latter by Frank.

The other numbers given by Mrs. Read were: Chanson Triste Dupare Phyllide Dupare
